

PLAN OF FORBES FOR HAWAIIAN VILLAGE TAKES

Meeting Will Be Held and Inspection of Site Made Early Next Week

A Hawaiian village on the Almoeana road at Waikiki is almost assured, according to those interested in the project. At the last meeting of the Hawaii Promotion Committee, members informed the plan as outlined by George Angus and Charles R. Forbes.

Some time ago Superintendent Forbes recommended the improvement of Almoeana road and the establishment of a Hawaiian village on the beach with grass huts and all the native life, including the fishing, swimming and boating. Coral dredging was to be used to construct an ideal boulevard which would rival famous drives of the world.

Members of the Hawaii Promotion Committee, in taking action on the matter, stated that the time was ripe now for the establishment of the village, and believe that it would be one of the biggest assets for Honolulu in the publicity line. It is expected that further details will be gone into at the next meeting.

Charles R. Forbes is out of the city at present, but will return Monday, and a meeting has been called for Monday afternoon or Tuesday morning to visit the grounds and arrange plans for the early opening of the village. Members of the Hawaii Promotion Committee, City Planning Commission, Outdoor Circus Commissioner of Public Lands and Mr. Forbes will make the trip.

FAVOR PLAN TO LIGHT STATUE OF KAMEHAMEHA

Promotion Men Believe It Will Be Great Tourist Asset; Forbes Favors Plan

Plans proposed to light the statue of Kamehameha at night appear to be progressing, and a number of the commercial organizations have taken up the question and voted favorably upon it. At the last meeting of the Hawaii Promotion Committee, it was voted to sanction the lighting of the statue.

Charles R. Forbes, superintendent of public works, favors the plan. A. P. Taylor of the Hawaii Promotion Committee believes that it would be a tourist asset, and free juice has already been offered for the lighting of the statue.

"There are great possibilities in the lighting of the statue as a tourist asset," said A. P. Taylor today. "Nearly every visitor must pass by the statue, and at night it would be an impressive scene, causing much discussion regarding the early history of the Hawaiians. It would become nearly as famous as Parton's statue of Liberty in New York harbor."

LOWRIE DAMAGE CASE DECIDED IN BEHALF OF THE DEFENDANTS

According to a cablegram received by the law firm of Castle & Whitington, the supreme court of Massachusetts has affirmed the judgment of the lower court in the suit for damages brought by W. J. Lowrie against the late H. P. Baldwin, the late S. T. Alexander and James B. Castle, who constituted the firm of Alexander & Baldwin in 1907, when the suit was begun, and others.

Although the suit, which arose when Lowrie alleged that he was wrongfully dismissed as manager of the Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar Company in 1902, was for $400,000, the plaintiff later entered a motion to increase this amount to $1,000,000. This motion was practically allowed, but the lower Massachusetts court found for Mr. Lowrie in the sum of $1, without costs.

In part, the damages were estimated upon arrangement by which Mr. Lowrie was to be held for making Hawaiian Commercial a 50,000-ton plantation. He took hold of the plantation in 1901 and was dismissed the following year. The law firm of Castle & Whitington represented the defendants. It is not yet known whether the plaintiff's attorneys will appeal to the supreme court of the United States from the decision.

JAPANESE WILL GIVE BIG SHOW AT OPERA HOUSE

Many of the stars which have disappeared on the Orpheum and Keith circuits in the East will appear at the Hawaiian Opera House on Saturday evening at the first performance of the Doi Vaudeville Company. Included on the program will be the greatest troupe of jugglers in the world. This has been a feature of the program for the entire season.

The Doi Vaudeville Company was brought here from Japan by H. Doi, a local violinist, who was a favorite among the Japanese some time ago. In a talk with Mr. Doi he states that this program, which will begin on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, will feature the greatest Japanese stars ever before appearing in America. Tricks of magic, juggling, balancing acts and comedy will feature the evening's performance.

Manager Doi has announced that the company will appear at the Hawaiian Opera House for four nights only, June 24, 25, 27 and 28. After leaving Honolulu the company will play a series of engagements on the mainland.
